THE NEW ROSE

CAVALIER

Plant Patent No. 402

A sport from Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, originated with SAMTMANN BROTHERS, WYNDMOOR, PENNA.

The growing habits of this variety are similar to that of the parent—vigorous upright grower, long strong stems, glossy dark green foliage, and very prolific bloomer. Medium size, well formed, 30 to 40 petals.

CAVALIER possesses several OUTSTANDING features, among which are the slow and even opening of the bud, the exceedingly good-lasting qualities of the flower after being cut, and the dark, leathery foliage. These features combine to make the variety particularly adapted for shipping over long distances.

THE DISTINCTIVE COLOR IS EXTRAORDINARILY RICH AND BRILLIANT and is very difficult to describe accurately, because no color plates showing its true colors are available in the standard color guides. We believe the nearest description is "A BEAUTIFUL SHADE OF BURNT-ORANGE." When in tight bud the color is a combination of scarlet and coral-red, evenly spread, and as it opens more of the yellow and orange tone is shown. There is no Rose among the list of varieties under cultivation with which to compare CAVALIER in color. IT IS ENTIRELY DISTINCTIVE.

CAVALIER has been thoroughly tested by Samtmann Brothers and also by Myers & Samtmann and found MOST SATISFACTORY.

CAVALIER is exceptionally popular with Retailers and Wholesalers.

CAVALIER should be grown at a temperature of 56 to 58°.
